To Whom It May Concern:

Bob Murch has been working with National Archives records since 2004 and I've been working with him, helping him track down patent and trademark records on talking boards. He's mastered the use of secondary and primary sources outside of the Archives, so his requests are always filled with good information that makes my job easier. Murch's passion and continuing enthusiasm for his subject is infectious and I always look forward to his next request or research visit, because I know it's going to be interesting.

Sincerely,

GENE MORRIS
